

Exercise 7

1. Write a java program to check whether the given array size is negative or not. Use catch and try block.
2. Write a java program which contains method to check the valid age for voting. If the input to the method is less than 18 , then the method should handle exception. Use throws keyword for exception handling.
3. Write a java program to give example multiple catch statements occurring in a program.
4. Give an example program in java for handling exception using throw keyword. Use finally keyword within the same program.